

Protect New Jerseyans rights to block telemarketers phone calls!
With the high per capita and household incomes in our state, I think the telemarketing industry views us as a huge source of potential purchasing power and target New Jerseyans.

I don't support the right of any business to call me just because I chose to purchase something from that business in the last 18 months. For example, if I purchase a book on healthy recipes from a publishing company, if the FCC overturns the NJ Do Not Call law, that business will have the right to contact me about purchasing many more books on subjects I have no interest in. Don't bother me! I'll choose what I want to buy when I want to buy it. And it's never over the phone when I have been interrupted by a telemarketer!
